Ladders Raised to Windows To Assist Many Guests To Safety

DENSE SMOKE SCREEN

Blaze is Believed to Have Started in Basement Tailor Shop

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 29—(INS)—A fire that quickly mushroomed to seven-alarm proportions broke out in a midtown Philadelphia hotel today, routing scores of residents.

A number of injured were taken to hospitals from the blazing building, the Clinton Hotel.

Firemen raised ladders to windows to assist many to safety, including Mrs. Frances Ely, 80-year-old resident of the hotel. She was among those taken to a hospital for smoke inhalation treatment.

The flames caused a dense pall of smoke to almost screen the seven-story building from view as firemen poured tons of water into the structure.

Many of the residents are permanent guests of the hotel. Among them was Mrs. Margaret Tobey, 62, who was carried down a ladder by firemen. She was awakened by heavy coughing caused by the smoke and wrapped herself in a blanket before going to a window and calling to firemen.

Flames and sparks from the seven-story Clinton Hotel showered on five nearby apartment buildings and threatened another hotel before they were checked. Sixty persons were felled by smoke and hundreds were routed, many of them in night attire. Panic-stricken hotel guests screamed from windows as firemen lifted ladders to the burning structure and rescued many residents of the top floors. Six of the injured were detained in hospitals and more than a dozen persons were discharged after treatment. Fifty firemen were overcome by smoke. Clouds of smoke prevented firemen from reaching the source of the blaze in the basement immediately. Their work was hampered by more than 1000 spectators who flocked to the area shortly after the initial alarm was sounded at three a. m. Firemen brought the blaze under control at 9:30 a. m. E. A. Patrick, manager of the hotel, said the fire began when a basement water pump ignited a linen closet.

Driver in Accident Case Is Claimed Intoxicated

OAKFORD, Feb. 29—An accident occurred last evening in Oakford involving a truck and a passenger car.

According to state police, a truck operated by George Barford, 35, Oakford, travelling west on Spruce street, at seven o'clock crashed into the rear of a parked vehicle belonging to Edward J. Terrel, Langhorne R. D. 3.

Police said Terrel had just gotten into his machine to drive away when the collision occurred.

Barford was taken to the office of a Pennel physician and treated for lacerations of the nose. Police claim he was found to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was later arraigned before Justice-of-the-Peace Richard A. Hopkins, Hulmeville, and released under $500 bail pending a further hearing.

NEWTOWN MAN FOUND TO BE "NOT GUILTY"

Lynsie Lee Harris Tried On Charge of Larceny of An Auto

FOREST GROVE CASE

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 29—A Newtown resident, charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods (which included the automobile of a Pennel restaurant owner) is among those who are on trial in Bucks County court this week. Among the cases is that of a Forest Grove man, who was placed on probation.

Lynsie Lee Harris, Newtown, went on trial before Judge Edward G. Biester, Howard T. Cade, Newtowr, who operates a restaurant in Pennel, said his car was stolen Nov. 16, 1951, while it was parked in the rear of his eating place. He valued the sedan at $500 and said it was damaged to the extent of $367 when he recovered it again.

Robert Bradley, Trenton, N. J., police department accident investigator, testified that the defendant was involved in a collision in Trenton. N. J. Officer Fred C. Dunkley, Pennel, gave testimony concerning the defendant's activities and conduct.

When the Commonwealth failed to produce enough evidence, Judge Edward G. Biester directed a verdict of not guilty in favor of Harris.

The defendant had been "picked up" by some man who was driving the car" and that he was thumbing his way home when the accident happened. Bradley, who investigated the accident, said two witnesses identified the defendant as the man behind the steering wheel.

The witness did not appear during the trial.

Edward P. Wiggins, 26, Forest Grove, who pleaded guilty to larceny, was sentenced to 10 months in prison.

"TIRED OF IT ALL"

Could this be Slick Willie Sutton, this meek little man in a cheap blue suit? Willie Sutton, most wanted man on the bank robber list? The man who knocked off a New York bank two years ago to the tune of $64,000? The man suspected of being at the bottom of the $1,500,000 Brink's robbery in Boston?

The case of Willie (The Actor) Sutton, from his rise to Public Enemy No. 1 (junior grade), to his fall to low man in the police lineup, is one of the most lethal debunking exhibitions presented in some time. Where was the big time criminal, with his court of hoodlums, blondes, motor cars and big cigars?

Willie had been living in a $6-a-week walkup. He held a job that paid $50 a month, apparently splicing out his expense with dribs and drabs from a small fund of cash left over from the New York robbery. Willie's penury actually was his undoing. If he hadn't been trying to fix his own car at a service station he probably would still be at large. Two young patrolmen—or an informer who is eligible for $70,000 in rewards offered for his capture (take your choice)—saw him, and that was the end of it.

Whatever happens to Willie now will be an anticlimax. He can be sent up for a total of nearly 100 years if convicted for all the crimes he is supposed to have committed.

AIRLINES TAKE HOLD

When officials of the Port of New York Authority shut down the Newark, N. J., airport, following a third major air disaster in a few weeks, things were bound to happen. The New York metropolitan area handles more commercial plane flights from its three major fields than any other area.

After the closing of Newark, the number of flights at LaGuardia Airport moved from a normal daily average of more than 400 to more than 600. Meanwhile there has been a long pent up pressure at work from householders living near the field to reduce the original figure. It called for some drastic doing all around.

Approximately 270 daily flights have been eliminated from the load LaGuardia has been carrying. Some flights have been diverted to the great international air terminal at Idlewild. Some have been shifted to smaller fields as far away as Bridgeport and Philadelphia. Some have been eliminated entirely.

It should be noted that airlines have taken the initiative and wrestled with their own problems, without waiting for government officials to do it for them. This should indicate to their critics a willingness and desire to get along with the cities which offer them space and facilities. Such compatibility is necessary if air transport is to continue to make progress.

low, and must be raised substantially if lives are going to continue to be saved in the bitter struggle in Korea. All who can, including both our employees and those of contractors working at Fairless Works, are strongly urged to volunteer as donors on Friday, March 14."

Arrangements will be made for donations to be received at the supervisors' dining room at the plant. A trained staff of Red Cross workers, supplemented by a force of volunteers from the Morrisville chapter of the Red Cross will be on hand to assist in the project. Contractor's employees who desire to donate blood have been requested to contact their supervisors and request slips to be filled out to permit scheduling of visits to the blood center. Other arrangements have been made for U. S. Steel employees. The Red Cross flag will fly from the plant's flagstaff on Friday as a reminder of the occasion.

Red Cross officials said that each individual donation would be scheduled for a specific time during the day, between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., and that about one hour of the individual's time would be required for the donation. Time taken by employees of U. S. Steel for his purpose will be counted as time worked, it was announced.

Red Cross volunteers will serve coffee and doughnuts to volunteers after the blood donation has been made. This service will be provided in cooperation with Factory Stores, plant food concessionaires. Employees were urged to sign up for volunteer donations immediately, to assure scheduling and notification prior to the March 14 date. While only 200 donors may be received during the day, it was hoped that the number of volunteers would exceed this number, justifying a possible return of the Red Cross blood unit at another early open date in its tour.

were estimated by the D. P. A. to be sufficient to support all projects already under construction in the first quarter 1952, to provide for about 50 new projects, and to permit most of the needed repair and renovation of existing facilities.

"One specific index to construction is contained in the detailed summary of the construction program under the Hill-Burton Act compiled by the Hospital Facilities Division of the Public Health Service. This summary under date of October 31, states that under the program there are actually under construction 747 projects, involving 45,885 hospital beds and 105 health centers. These figures concern only those projects sponsored by Federal support under the Hill-Burton measure (Public Law 725).

"Construction underway is virtually guaranteed the right to go ahead to completion. Government authorities recognize how foolish it would be under existing conditions to halt any hospital project midway, so necessary priorities for needed materials will be forthcoming for these. Short of all-out war all hospital jobs in process will therefore probably be facilitated in procurement of needed materials during the coming year. Even substitutes — such as galvanized instead of copper or brass pipe cannot be such as to alter radically the original design of the building.

"Hospitals have been recognized as a primary defense need and materials are and will continue to be allocated accordingly," said one Washington official high in those government councils dealing with hospital affairs."

By John Baker, Jr.

Pinch-Hitting for Joe Elberson

The Bristol Fish and Game Protective Ass'n was well represented at the National Sportsmen's Show for the finals in the 8 oz. accuracy casting event. The Paterson Rod and Gun Club nosed out Bristol as a team with a fine exhibition of casting to take first place. In addition to the Bristol team placing 2nd, our own Bill Durr the 1951 Overall Champ bowed to an ace castor from Memphis, Tenn. for 2nd place. Our hats are off to the members who represented the Bristol Club in New York and we extend a sincere desire to see some top honors at the Philadelphia Sportsmen's Show which opens February 29th through March 8th, Friday and Saturday nights will be for team competition and during the week are contests to qualify for the finals on Saturday night, March 8th.

It is the writer's firm conviction that the training of a bird dog is not so much a matter of rule, as of art. I believe some men will utterly fail even when trying to accomplish a result in exact accordance with the best rules known. Others will somehow succeed splendidly even though they may proceed in apparently direct opposition to all the accepted standards of practice.

The one foremost rule I would suggest is to love and know your dog. There must be the closest possible bond between you and the dog you are attempting to teach to hunt for you in the field.

If I were purchasing a young dog I would insist upon a registered dog with good blood lines, a cheap puppy may mean ten or twenty dollars in your pocket but a sorry owner after a season in the field. Puppies whelped from January 1st through April would be the proper age to start the following Fall. During the early stages he must be taught discipline, such as house and yard training. He may be taught to fetch a ball and lie down at the sign of the hand or to come back when signaled. All these minor lessons will prove to be beneficial for both dog and master for many days afield.

This column enjoyed reading a fine article in the January issue of Pennsylvania Game News by Herbert Kendrick and would like to pass it on as a source of reading pleasure.

Scentsing ability is one of the greatest assets in the animal kingdom. It is the necessary equipment which enables animals of the wilds to survive, by procuring food and being alerted at the approach of an enemy.

Fortunately mankind can utilize the hunting dog's scenting powers to furnish sport and meat in return for free board and lodging. It is an excellent arrangement for both man and dog, and I sincerely hope that this partnership will remain a part of civilization until the end of time.

No individual knows very much about scent, however the experienced dog man knows that on some days his dogs find birds and many days they do not. The keen observer and student of hunting learns a few limited facts about weather, ground, and seasonal conditions which may affect the animal's location of game birds. The physical condition of a dog has an important bearing on his ability to smell. Quite often I have seen the kennel-master feel the noses of the dogs before selecting a pair for hunt. If a dog has a dry warm nose he is left behind for the day because it is safe to assume the "ol' boy" is a little off.

It is almost certain that atmospheric conditions play the most important role, but there are many other factors to be considered. The long flight bird, leaving the majority of scent in the air, is difficult to locate. The buddled group of birds emit practically no scent at all. I have seen excellent pointers and setters pass extremely close to a covey without a pause, and then walk into the bunch.

A bird dog should be hunted against the wind whenever possible. Simple understanding is required to tell us that an odor is transmitted with the breeze, and if the dog has the advantage of running into the wind his chances are much better. An experienced dog will always work toward the breeze if he is allowed freedom.

Perhaps you have often made a clean kill, seeing the bird drop in the open, and be amazed when your dog passed within a few feet of the bird without noticing it at all. There is no scent when he first hits the ground, however within a very few minutes the dead bird will release enough scent that the dog can locate it. For this reason it is wise to allow your retriever plenty of time before you confuse the situation by moving in to help him. When you walk in the area of the fallen bird your scent makes it more troublesome for the dog.

I have seen a few superlative dogs run right through a covey of birds, exhibiting no sign of scenting at all. Do not question the dog's nose, just accept the fact that some unnatural condition caused the mishap.

Good scenting days are enjoyed when the ground is cold with a little frost before the sun warms, and a gentle breeze drifting scents toward the dog.

Dry cover makes a tough day for the dog. Scenting conditions are poor, and excess noise under foot frightens the game, thus making a poor hunt indeed.

Game birds seem to emit very little scent when snow covers the ground. Most likely the reason is that birds do not move. Some states do not allow hunting if the ground is covered by snow. Perhaps it is a good law because many of us feel that it is not sporting to disturb them when the weather is against them.

It is beautiful to see the pointing breeds learn with experience the feeding habits of birds, and cover the fields where they are bordered by woods and thickets. Game leaving the thick cover to feed in the fields leave a clear scent for the experienced nose to locate.

Keep your dog in good health, work him regularly, train him well, help him hunt by learning your game and cover, and please do not blame him completely for an occasional flush.

LUCISANO WINS OVER 5TH WARD;
NOW IN 5TH PLACE

Winning over Fifth Ward Sporting Club, the Lucisano Brothers quintet of Tullytown jumped into fourth place in the Bristol Basketball League. Score of the nightcap game was: Lucisano, 61; Fifth Ward, 54.

Lucisano is now one game away from the league leaders while Fifth Ward is in a three-way tie with Protiv's and Franklin for fifth position.

Lucisano led most of the way in the game but almost faltered in the third quarter when Fifth Ward came within three points of knotting the count. Lucisano went over five minutes without a field goal in this session but a splurge towards the finish saw it end up with four fielders. John Paone getting three of these.

Fifth Ward had a bad start in the second period, only scoring two points in the first six minutes of playing. The Warders only had one field goal in the first quarter. The Lucisano defense did a good job in holding Wilkins to two points, made on fouls. Joe Costello led Fifth Ward with 16 points.

Leading scorers for the Tullytown team were Paone and Frank Thropp with 23 and 17 points, respectively. Thropp made several nice set shots during the melee.

AND ROHM & HAAS

Cornwells Boys Club went into a triple deadlock with the Hibernians and Rohm & Haas for first place in the Bristol Basketball League by scoring a close 63-62 victory over Hilltop A. C. last night on the Goodwill Hose Company court.

Hilltop trailed from the first quarter on and staged a magnificent rally in the last quarter when it cut a 13-point Cornwells' lead to one point. Cornwells did a fine freezing job in the last minute of play.

Cornwells again completed the game with five players but the quintet appeared played out in the final quarter which helped the Hilltoppers to cut into the lead. At the close of the third session, Cornwells possessed a 54-50 edge.

Bill McDonnell and Larry Auerbach paced the Hilltop spurt with four fielders each in the last quarter drive. McDonnell was high in the game with 22 points. Ed Oliver, Bill Curran, and Al Bader led the winners in scoring with the first two having 18 points and Bader, 16.

FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

Because...like life...flowers flourish and fade. But there is something in their vital beauty that cannot wholly perish.

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles!

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 29.—(INS)—A fire that quickly mushroomed to seven-alarm proportions broke out in a midtown Philadelphia hotel today routing scores of residents.

A number of injured were taken to hospitals from the blazing building, the Clinton Hotel.

Firemen raised ladders to windows to assist many to safety, including Mrs. Frances Ely, 80-year-old resident of the hotel. She was among those taken to a hospital for smoke inhalation treatment.

The flames caused a dense pall of smoke to almost screen the seven-story building from view as firemen poured tons of water into the structure.

Many of the residents are permanent guests of the hotel. Among them was Mrs. Margaret Tobey, 62, who was carried down a ladder by firemen. She was awakened by the smoke and wrapped herself in a blanket before going to a window and calling to firemen.

Flames and sparks from the seven-story Clinton Hotel showered on five nearby apartment buildings and threatened another hotel before they were checked. Sixty persons were felled by smoke and hundreds were routed, many of them in night attire. Panic-stricken hotel guests screamed from windows as firemen lifted ladders to the burning structure and rescued many residents of the top floors. Six of the injured were detained in hospitals and more than a dozen persons were discharged after treatment. Fifty firemen were overcome by smoke. Clouds of smoke prevented firemen from reaching the source of the blaze in the basement immediately. Their work was hampered by more than 1000 spectators who flocked to the area shortly after the initial alarm was sounded at three a. m. Firemen brought the blaze under control at 9:30 a. m. E. A. Patrick, manager of the hotel, said the fire began when a basement water pump ignited linens.

OAKFORD, Feb. 29.—An accident occurred last evening in Oakford involving a truck and a passenger car.

According to state police, a truck operated by George Barford, 35, Oakford, travelling west on Spruce street, at seven o'clock crashed into the rear of a parked vehicle belonging to Edward J. Terrel, Langhorne R. D. 3.

Police said Terrel had just gotten into his machine to drive away when the collision occurred.

Barford was taken to the office of a Pennell physician and treated for lacerations of the nose. Police claim he was found to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was later arraigned before Justice-of-the-Peace Richard A. Hopkins, Huimeville, and released under $500 bail pending a further hearing.

Pvts. Arner and Allen, of Langhorne State Police barracks, investigated.

NEWTOWN MAN FOUND TO BE "NOT GUILTY"

FOREST GROVE CASE

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 29.—A Newtown resident, charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods (which included the automobile of a Pennell restaurant owner) is among those who was on trial in Bucks County court this week.

Among the cases is that of a Forest Grove man, who was placed on probation.

Lynsie Lee Harris, Newtown, went on trial before Judge Edward G. Biester. Howard T. Cade, Newville, who operates a restaurant in Pennell, said his car was stolen Nov. 16, 1951, while it was parked in the rear of his eating place. He valued the sedan at $500 and said it was damaged to the extent of $367 when he recovered it again.

Robert Bradley, Trenton, N. J., police department accident investigator, testified that the defendant was involved in a collision in Trenton. N. J. Officer Fred C. Dunkley, Pennell, gave testimony concerning the defendant's activities and conduct.

When the Commonwealth failed to produce enough evidence, Judge Edward G. Biester directed a verdict of not guilty in favor of Harris. The defendant had been "picked up" by some man who was driving the car" and that he was thumbing his way home when the accident happened. Bradley, who investigated the accident, said two witnesses identified the defendant as the man behind the steering wheel. The witnesses did not appear during the trial.

Edward P. Wiggins, 26, Forest Grove, who pleaded guilty to larceny, was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

TIRED OF IT ALL?

Could this be Slick Willie Sutton, this meek little man in a cheap blue suit? Willie Sutton, most wanted man on the bank robber list? The man who knocked off a New York bank two years ago to the tune of $64,000? The man suspected of being at the bottom of the $1,500,000 Brink's robbery in Boston?

The case of Willie (The Actor) Sutton, from his rise to Public Enemy No. 1 (junior grade), to his fall to low man in the police lineup, is one of the most lethal debunking exhibitions presented in some time. Where was the big time criminal, with his court of hoodlums, blondes, motor cars and big cigars?

Willie had been living in a $6-a-week walkup. He held a job that paid $50 a month, apparently splicing out his expenses with dribs and drabs from a small fund of cash left over from the New York robbery. Willie's penury actually was his undoing. If he hadn't been trying to fix his own car at a service station he probably would still be at large. Two young patrolmen—or an informer who is eligible for $70,000 in rewards offered for his capture (take your choice)—saw him, and that was the end of it.

Whatever happens to Willie now will be an anticlimax. He can be sent up for a total of nearly 100 years if convicted for all the crimes he is supposed to have committed.

AIRLINES TAKE HOLD

When officials of the Port of New York Authority shut down the Newark, N. J. airport, following a third major air disaster in a few weeks, things were bound to happen. The New York metropolitan area handles more commercial plane flights from its three major fields than any other area.

After the closing of Newark, the number of flights at LaGuardia Airport moved from a normal daily average of more than 400 to more than 600. Meanwhile there has been a long pent up pressure at work from householders living near the field to reduce the original figure. It called for some drastic doing all around.

Approximately 270 daily flights have been eliminated from the load LaGuardia has been carrying. Some flights have been diverted to the great international air terminal at Idlewild. Some have been shifted to smaller fields as far away as Bridgeport and Philadelphia. Some have been eliminated entirely.

It should be noted that airlines have taken the initiative and wrestled with their own problems, without waiting for government officials to do it for them. This should indicate to their critics a willingness and desire to get along with the cities which offer them space and facilities. Such compatibility is necessary if air transport is to continue to make progress.

low, and must be raised substantially if lives are going to continue to be saved in the bitter struggle in Korea. All who can, including both our employees and those of contractors working at Fairless Works, are strongly urged to volunteer as donors on Friday, March 14."

Arrangements will be made for donations to be received at the supervisors' dining room at the plant. A trained staff of Red Cross workers, supplemented by a force of volunteers from the Morrisville chapter of the Red Cross will be on hand to assist in the project. Contractor's employees who desire to donate blood have been requested to contact their supervisors and request slips to be filled out to permit scheduling of visits to the blood center. Other arrangements have been made for U. S. Steel employees. The Red Cross flag will fly from the plant's flagstaff on Friday as a reminder of the occasion.

Red Cross officials said that each individual donation would be scheduled for a specific time during the day, between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. and that about one hour of the individual's time would be required for the donation. Time taken by employees of U. S. Steel for his purpose will be counted as time worked; it was announced. Cross volunteers will serve coffee and doughnuts to volunteers after the blood donation has been made. This service will be provided in cooperation with Factory Stores, plant food concessionaires. Employees were urged to sign up for volunteer donations immediately, to assure scheduling and notification prior to the March 14 date. While only 200 donors may be received during the day, it was hoped that the number of volunteers would exceed this number, justifying a possible return of the Red Cross blood unit at another early open date in its tour.

built-in contour parking lights and a bronze "K" medallion highlights the front styling treatment. New splash shields and wrap-around bumpers are other features. There also is a new lance-type chrome and plastic hood ornament with "Corsair" appearing in chrome on the fenders.

Tail lights have been moved from their former position in the body below the trunk lid to the crown of the rear fenders, and are visible from the side, as well as from the rear of the car. The former tall lamp positions are ornamented with circle "K" medallions which provide removal receptacles for custom installation of back-up lights, an accessory item.

A new convenience feature of the '52 models is a "pop-up" trunk lid which eliminates the need for a handle with which to raise the trunk cover. A turn of the key releases a spring latch which raises the lid to a convenient height for easy opening.

Interiors have been completely restyled with new door panel trim patterns and vinyl plastic fabrics in a selection of authentic Scotch tartan plaid. The upholstery is washable and stain resistant, yet luxurious in appearance and seating comfort. The interiors harmonize with six new body colors developed in cooperation with home furnishings stylists of House and Garden magazine.

(Reprinted from a portion of yesterday's edition)

TWO MEN KILLED HERE; ONE HURT

Two men were instantly killed and a third narrowly escaped death shortly before noon today in the powerhouse of what was formerly the Grundy mill. All are Philadelphians.

The victims:
Robert Cooper, 21, of 1941 N. 8th st.
Willie Palmer, 34, 2210 N. 17th st.

The injured:
Willis Williams, 2440 W. Jefferson ave., bruises and shock.

The three men, employed by L. Blumberg & Son, 240 W. Allegheny ave., Phila., were engaged in hoisting a large fly-wheel with a chain hoist. Walter Piehowiak, of 4553 Almond st., Phila., was supervising the work. The wheel was about four feet off the ground with the three men engaged in pulling on the chain. Suddenly there was a snap, and the three men, realizing that a chain link had broken, jumped in an effort to escape the falling wheel, but the two men were instantly killed.

Dr. William L. Goldfarb, deputy coroner of Bucks Co., was summoned, and said that Cooper was badly crushed, especially about the head, while Palmer was caught on the abdomen and chest.

The bodies were removed to the funeral home of John C. Black. The industrial buildings are occupied by a number of small firms.

Pupil Transfer at Andalusia To Be Performed Gradually

are 1040 elementary students in Bensalem township. There will be 450 at the Andalusia school, 270 remaining at Bensalem high school, with the rest at the Penn Valley and Trexow schools. At the Andalusia schools there will be 13 class rooms. There were five class rooms there before the addition, six new ones are being constructed, and the lunch room at the addition is being constructed with a sliding door so it can be divided into the 12th and 13th class rooms.

The Andalusia addition was designed by the H. F. Everett and Association architects firm, under the direction of the Bensalem Township Authority. Mrs. Morgan enumerated the advantages the new building will have. She said: "There is no public library in the township, and we are proud to have a central library for elementary students.

There will be a piano and along with the new ground that was purchased for a play ground for the students, it is hoped that we will be able to provide a well rounded education for the children at their most formative age. Furthermore the new ground will make it possible for children living in the Emerson lane development to walk to school without going onto Bristol Pike."

Mrs. Morgan discussed briefly the equipment and interior decoration of the addition. She stated: "The interior will be done in pastel shades, with knotty pine woodwork, blonde furniture and will have a large oil burner to heat the school.

This section was then designated Richetown. John Tolley, of the Tolley family for whom the borough is named, had held land in his name in that area in 1682. Much later, a descendant of the original Tolley was influential in having the name changed to Tolleytown.

For many years now, Tolleytown remained unchanged, quiet, peaceful farmland. The advent of the Fairless Steel Works and Levittown have focused a great deal of attention on southeast Pennsylvania and on Tolleytown itself. A major portion of Levittown will be within the Tolleytown limits. Tolleytown's main street, the old Bristol Pike, is now the funnel for steel workers going south and with the balance of population moving more and more away from the Delaware river toward Levittown, it is going to become increasingly apparent in the near future that Tolleytown is more than a "one-street" town.

Then signs were placed informing that a new P. R. R. passenger station "Levittown" would be built almost on the edge of this borough. This caused resentment because fears were that this borough will lose the little station which now is the stopping place for P. R. R. trains.

Tolleytown, according to the Bucks County Historical Society, is the borough on the line between Falls and Bristol townships, erected in 1891 from parts of both townships. It has a frontage on the Delaware river. Most of the territory was taken from Falls Township. Tolleytown lies on the southwest corner of ancient Penns Manor and upon partition of the Manor, Joseph Kirkbride took the northwest part and Riche the southeast.

Thomas Riche bought 4,000 acres of the old Penns Manor from Ann Penn, one of William Penn's heirs, prior to the Revolutionary War. This section was then designated Richetown. John Tolley, of the Tolley family for whom the borough is named, had held land in his name in that area in 1682. Much later, a descendant of the original Tolley was influential in having the name changed to Tolleytown.

were estimated by the D. P. A. to be sufficient to support all projects already under construction in the first quarter 1952, to provide for about 50 new projects, and to permit most of the needed repair and renovation of existing facilities.

"One specific index to construction is contained in the detailed summary of the construction program under the Hill-Burton Act compiled by the Hospital Facilities Division of the Public Health Service. This summary under date of October 31, states that under the program there are actually under construction 747 projects, involving 45,885 hospital beds and 165 health centers. These figures concern only those projects sponsored by Federal support under the Hill-Burton measure (Public Law 725).

"Construction underway is virtually guaranteed the right to go ahead to completion. Government authorities recognize how foolish it would be under existing conditions to halt any hospital project midway, so necessary priorities for needed materials will be forthcoming for these. Short of all-out war all hospital jobs in process will therefore probably be facilitated in procurement of needed materials during the coming year. Even substitutes — such as galvanized instead of copper or brass pipe cannot be such as to alter radically the original design of the building.

"Hospitals have been recognized as a primary defense need and materials are and will continue to be allocated accordingly," said one Washington official high in those government councils dealing with hospital affairs."

William Sprecher, Philadelphia, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Corrigan, New Buckley street.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By John Baker, Jr.

Pinch-Hitting for Joe Elberson

The Bristol Fish and Game Protective Ass'n was well represented at the National Sportsmen's Show for the finals in the 8 oz. accuracy casting event. The Paterson Rod and Gun Club nosed out Bristol as a team with a fine exhibition of casting to take first place. In addition to the Bristol team placing 2nd, our own Bill Durr the 1951 Individual Champ bowed to an ace caster from Memphis, Tenn., for 2nd place. Our hats are off to the members who represented the Bristol Club in New York, and we extend a sincere desire to see some top honors at the Philadelphia Sportsmen's Show which opens February 29th through March 5th. Friday and Saturday nights will be for team competition and during the week are contests to qualify for the finals on Saturday night, March 5th.

It is the writer's firm conviction that the training of a bird dog is not so much a matter of rule, as of art. I believe some men will utterly fail even when trying to accomplish a result in exact accordance with the best rules known. Others will somehow succeed splendidly even though they may proceed in apparently direct opposition to all the accepted standards of practice.

The one foremost rule I would suggest is to love and know your dog. There must be the closest possible bond between you and the dog you are attempting to teach to hunt for you in the field.

If I were purchasing a young dog I would insist upon a registered dog with good blood lines, a cheap puppy may mean ten or twenty dollars in your pocket but a sorry owner after a season in the field. Puppies whelped from January 1st through April would be the proper age to start the following Fall. During the early stages he must be taught discipline, such as house and yard training. He may be taught to fetch a ball and lie down at the sign of the hand or to come back when signaled. All these minor lessons will prove to be beneficial for both dog and master for many days ahead.

This column enjoyed reading a fine article in the January issue of Pennsylvania Game News by Herbert Kendrick and would like to pass it on as a source of reading pleasure.

Scentsing ability is one of the greatest assets in the animal kingdom. It is the necessary equipment which enables animals of the wilds to survive, by procuring food and being alerted at the approach of an enemy.

Fortunately mankind can utilize the hunting dog's scentsing powers to furnish sport and meat in return for free board and lodging. It is an excellent arrangement for both man and dog, and I sincerely hope that this partnership will remain a part of civilization until the end of time.

No individual knows very much about scent, however the experienced dog man knows that on some days his dogs find birds and many days they do not. The keen observer and student of hunting learns a few limited facts about weather, ground, and seasonal conditions which may affect the animal's location of game birds. The physical condition of a dog has an important bearing on his ability to smell. Quite often I have seen the kennel-master feel the noses of the dogs before selecting a pair for a hunt. If a dog has a dry warm nose he is left behind for the day because it is safe to assume the 'ol' boy is a little off.

It is almost certain that atmospheric conditions play the most important role, but there are many other factors to be considered. The long flight bird, leaving the majority of scent in the air, is difficult to locate. The huddled group of birds emit practically no scent at all. I have seen excellent pointers and setters pass extremely close to a covey without a pause, and then walk into the bunch.

A bird dog should be hunted against the wind whenever possible. Simple understanding is required to tell us that an odor is transmitted with the breeze, and if the dog has the advantage of running into the wind his chances are much better. An experienced dog will always work toward the breeze if he is allowed freedom.

Perhaps you have often made a clean kill, seeing the bird drop in the open, and be amazed when your dog passed within a few feet of the bird without noticing it at all. There is no scent when he first hits the ground, however within a very few minutes the dead bird will release enough scent that the dog can locate it. For this reason it is wise to allow your retriever plenty of time before you confuse the situation by moving in to help him. When you walk in the area of the fallen bird your scent makes it more troublesome for the dog.

I have seen a few superlative dogs run right through a covey of birds, exhibiting no sign of scentsing at all. Do not question the dog's nose, just accept the fact that some unnatural condition caused the mishap.

Good scentsing days are enjoyed when the ground is cold with a little frost before the sun warms, and a gentle breeze drifting scent toward the dog.

Dry cover makes a tough day for the dog. Scentsing conditions are poor, and excess noise under foot frightens the game, thus making a poor hunt indeed.

Game birds seem to emit very little scent when snow covers the ground. Most likely the reason is that birds do not move. Some states do not allow hunting if the ground is covered by snow. Perhaps it is a good law because many of us feel that it is not sporting to disturb them when the weather is against them.

It is beautiful to see the pointing breeds learn with experience the feeding habits of birds, and cover the fields where they are bordered by woods and thickets. Game leaving the thick cover to feed in the fields leave a clear scent for the experienced nose to locate.

Keep your dog in good health, work him regularly, train him well, help him hunt by learning your game and cover, and please do not blame him completely for an occasional flush.

LUCISANO WINS OVER 5TH WARD; NOW IN 5TH PLACE

Winning over Fifth Ward Sporting Club, the Lucisano Brothers quintet of Tullytown jumped into fourth place in the Bristol Basketball League. Score of the nightcap game was: Lucisano, 61; Fifth Ward, 54.

Lucisano is now one game away from the league leaders while Fifth Ward is in a three-way tie with Profy's and Franklin for fifth position.

Lucisano led most of the way in the game but almost faltered in the third quarter when Fifth Ward came within three points of knotting the count. Lucisano went over five minutes without a field goal in this session but a spurge towards the finish saw it end up with four fielders. John Paone getting three of these.

Fifth Ward had a bad start in the second period, only scoring two points in the first six minutes of playing. The Warders only had one field goal in the first quarter. The Lucisano defense did a good job in holding Wilkins to two points, made on fouls. Joe Costello led Fifth Ward with 16 points.

Leading scorers for the Tullytown team were Paone and Frank Thropp with 23 and 17 points, respectively. Thropp made several nice set shots during the melee.

Hines, breaking away from Still-wagon, ran towards the Bucks County Historical Society Park, where he was lost in the darkness.

William Winner, a local truck driver, an eyewitness and one of the Commonwealth's strongest witnesses, said he saw the defendant pick up a sweater, put it under his arm and leave the store. The defendant placed the sweater behind a packing case on East Oakland avenue, and returned to the store. Winner tipped off Stillwagon who found the sweater behind the packing case outside the store.

Robert Lear, 17, part-time clerk, testified he saw the defendant leave with the shirts and that he followed him out the door to the sidewalk. "Stillwagon grabbed him by the arm and the defendant threw the shirts in my face and darted across the street. Stillwagon chased me."

Patrolman Kenneth R. Tutt, who arrested the defendant when he came to Doylestown, Sunday morning, testified he aided Stillwagon in hunting the defendant Saturday night, but they couldn't find him.

Abraham Reilly, Neshaminy, National Agricultural College greenhouse superintendent, testified that the defendant went with him to Philadelphia on Saturday, Sept. 15, 1951, and helped him do some work on lawns at Melrose and Elkins Park homes, during the day. His testimony concerning the defendant's actual conduct on that specific day was vague.

William F. Heffner, who was appointed by the Court, served as the defendant's counsel.

The defendant denied that he was in a store in Doylestown that day and also that he was seen earlier on the streets, here, Sept. 15th.

Following a two-hour deliberation, it is reported the jury stood 8-4 in favor of acquittal.
